PART I – LANGUAGE USE AND MEANING

A. Asking and Giving Opinion, Agreeing and Disagreeing, Interrupting, Comparison, and Conclusion

1 – 3

Read the following dialogue and answer the questions number 1 to 3.

- Dita : What do you think about the plan to ban single-use plastic at school?
- Raka : I believe it's a great idea. It can reduce waste and make our school cleaner.
- Sinta : I'm not sure about that. It might be difficult for some students.
- Dita : I see your point, but don't you think we should at least try? It's better for the environment.
- Raka : Absolutely. If we work together, we can do it.
- Sinta : Well, you're right. Let's discuss how to make it work.

PART II – READING COMPREHENSION

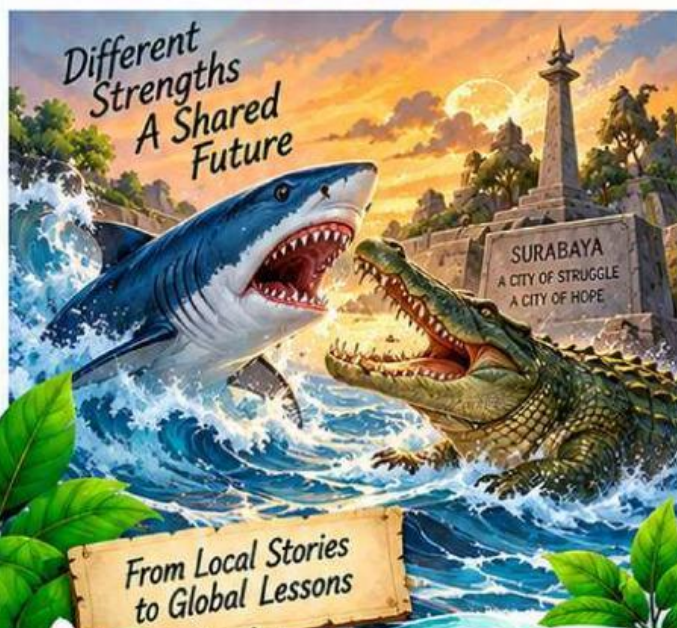

Unit 1 – Narrative Text: The Legend of Surabaya

Text 1

The Legend of Surabaya

Long ago, in East Java, there lived two fierce animals, a shark (Sura) and a crocodile (Baya). They lived in different places, Sura in the sea and Baya in the river. One day, they met and started to fight over territory. The fight was very long and very hard. Sura used his strong tail and sharp teeth, while Baya used his hard skin and powerful jaws. Neither of them wanted to give up. They fought for many days, and the water around them turned red with blood. Finally, both animals were so weak that they died.

After their death, the people found the bodies of the shark and the crocodile near the coast. The place then became known as Surabaya, which comes from “Sura” (shark) and “Baya” (crocodile). The story teaches us that fighting and refusing to compromise can lead to destruction, and that peace and cooperation are more valuable than conflict.

Unit 2 – Narrative Text: The Legend of Malin Kundang

Text 2

The Legend of Malin Kundang

Long ago, in a small village on the west coast of Sumatra, there lived a poor widow and her son, Malin Kundang. They lived a simple life, but the mother loved her son very much. Malin was a hard-working boy, and one day he decided to leave his village to find a better life. Before he left, his mother gave him her blessing and told him to always be kind and remember his hometown.

After many years, Malin became a rich and successful merchant. He owned a large ship and visited many countries. One day, he returned to his village. His mother was very happy and ran to the beach to welcome him. However, Malin was ashamed of his poor mother. He denied knowing her and said that she was not his mother. His words broke her heart.

The mother was so sad that she prayed to God for punishment. Suddenly, a great storm came, and Malin Kundang's ship was destroyed. Malin turned into a stone on the beach. The stone is still there today, a reminder for people to always respect and be grateful to their parents.

Unit 3 – Narrative Text: The Lion and the Mouse

Text 3

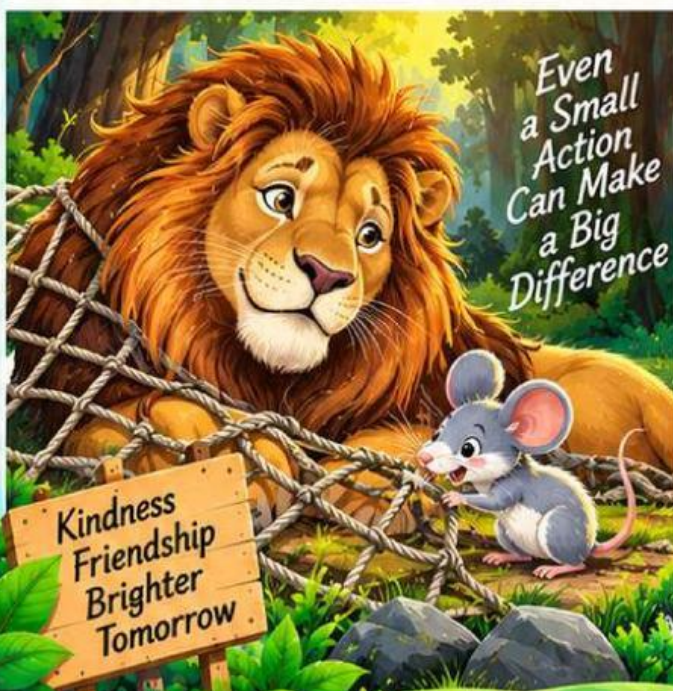

The Lion and the Mouse

One day, a lion was sleeping in the forest. A tiny mouse accidentally ran across his nose. The lion woke up and caught the mouse with his big paw. "Please don't eat me!" cried the mouse. "Someday I might be able to help you." The lion laughed. "How can such a small creature like you help me?" he said. But he let the mouse go.

A few days later, the lion was trapped in a hunter's net. He roared loudly, but he could not escape. The little mouse heard his cries and quickly ran to help. He gnawed the ropes with his sharp teeth until the net broke. The lion was free!

"Thank you, little friend," said the lion. "Now I know that even a small creature can do something great."
