

RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS IN CANADA:

VOCABULARY

Here are the names of some rights in Canada.

Drag the name of the right and drop it on top of the explanation of each right .

Some rights

1. Aboriginal peoples' rights
2. equality rights
3. freedom of religion
4. freedom of speech
5. freedom of thought
6. legal rights
7. mobility rights
8. the right to peaceful assembly

Meanings

These rights protect people when they meet or have problems with the police or when they go to court.

People of different abilities, ethnic groups, genders, religions, etc. have the same rights and opportunities.

People can move and travel to a different part of Canada. They can enter and leave Canada freely.

Indigenous people (people whose families who have lived in Canada for thousands of years) have special, traditional rights.

People can have their own ideas and beliefs.

People can communicate their ideas.

People can meet with others in big or small groups in a peaceful way.

People can follow any religion in the way they want. They can also have no religion.