

IELTS Writing Task 2

Some people believe that governments should invest more money in public transport, while others think that building and improving roads is more important. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

In many cities, people are increasingly dependent on private cars. Why is this the case, and what can governments do to encourage people to use public transport?

Traffic congestion is becoming a serious problem in many cities around the world. What are the main causes of this problem, and what measures can be taken to solve it?

Some people believe that public transport should be free for everyone. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Some people believe that increasing the price of petrol and diesel is the best way to reduce traffic and pollution. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Some people think that the minimum legal age for driving should be increased. Do you agree or disagree?

Some governments spend large amounts of money building new roads, while others invest more in railway systems. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

Individuals are often encouraged to use public transport in order to reduce pollution, but some people argue that governments and large companies should bear most of the responsibility. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

Some people believe that governments should significantly reduce the amount of parking available in city centres in order to discourage people from driving. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

