VAN LONG LAGOON, A MUST-SEE DESTINATION IN NINH BINH

Van Long Lagoon is located in Ninh Binh Province's Gia Vien District. It's about 80km from Ha Noi. The 3,500-ha Van Long Lagoon is considered the biggest wetland nature reserve site in the northern delta and home to thousands of rare fauna and flora species, many of them on the brink of extinction.

Travellers will be impressed with the imposing cliffs and mountains and vast lakes of Ninh Binh. Bamboo basket boat tours can be taken in a tranquil atmosphere with the familiar sounds of nature in the early morning or late afternoon, where tourists can view flocks of storks returning to their nests at sunset.

Viet Nam Record Book Centre said it is a place that has the largest number of delacour's langur (trachypitecus delacouri) with 100 individuals in danger of extinction. In the dry season (from November to April), Van Long is the wintering place of numerous birds from the North for Bonelli eagle, gray heron, white stork... It is also home to 457 species of plants and 35 species of aquatic plants, 8 species of which are listed in Viet Nam Red Book, including chukrasia tabularis, drynaria fortunei, melientha suavis, strychnos nux-vomica, dalbergia cochinchinensis...

Although it opened for tourism in 1998, Van Long is still as untouched as ever and is popular with local and foreign travellers, especially international filmmakers. Film director Jordan Vogt-Roberts shot the Hollywood movie Kong: Skull Island at the Trang An Scenic Landscape Complex, Tam Coc - Bich Dong National Park and Van Long Lagoon.
