

Breaking News

Shrimp Tails Found in Popular Breakfast Cereal

There was a disturbing discovery in a box of Cinnamon Toast Crunch. Consumers were horrified.

Jensen Karp ate a bowl of his favorite cinnamon sugar-striped cereal on Monday morning. As he began filling a second bowl, "something plopped out of the box," he said in an interview. "I picked it up, and I was like, 'This is clearly a shrimp tail.'"

He looked in the bag and saw what appeared to be another tail. Both were encrusted with sugar. "I get really grossed out," Karp said.

When Karp contacted General Mills, they offered him a replacement box and said that there is no way that shrimp tails could be in the cereal.

After much frustration, Karp looked into his box of cereal and found other strange items like black dots in the cereal squares, string, and pistachios.

Answer the following questions about the article:

1. Which cereal was the article about?

Cinnamon Toast Crunch	Captain Crunch	Cheerios
-----------------------	----------------	----------

2. What was found in the cereal? (There is more than 1 correct answer)

Shrimp Tails	Dog Tails	String
Pink Dots	Black Dots	pistachios

3. Do you think he continued eating the cereal?

Yes	No
-----	----