TRUE/FALSE READING PRACTICE (5 questions)

Read the information about the Atacama Desert. Are the sentences true (✓) or false (✗)?
 Write ✓ or ✗ on the lines.

The Atacama Desert

The Atacama Desert is in Chile, in South America. It is 130 000 km² and it is older than all the other deserts on Earth. In the Sahara Desert, the temperature is sometimes 50 °C, but in the Atacama Desert it is usually only 18 °C.

It hardly ever rains there and it is drier than the Sahara Desert. Scientists go to the Atacama Desert to look at the stars and planets through telescopes because there are about 330 nights every year without any clouds.

The Atacama Desert does not support much life, but some very, very tiny animals called microbes can live there. Scientists think that the planet Mars could also support the same kind of life!

Example:

0	The Atacama Desert is in South America.	✓
21	The Atacama Desert is the oldest desert on Earth.	_____
22	The Atacama Desert is hotter than the Sahara Desert.	_____
23	It never rains in the Atacama Desert.	_____
24	There are sometimes clouds in the Atacama Desert at night.	_____
25	Scientists think that microbes must live on Mars.	_____
