

Should Students Bring Their Mobile Phones to School?

Lily

I think students should be allowed to bring their mobile phones to school. It is useful for communication. If there is an emergency, we can contact our parents. We can also use our phones to find information for our schoolwork.

Daniel

I disagree. Students should not bring their mobile phones to school. It can be distracting. Some students may use their phones during lessons or play games instead of listening to the teacher. This can affect their learning.

Priya

I think it is a good idea, but only with rules. Students can bring their phones, but they should keep them in their bags during lessons. They can use them during break time or when the teacher gives permission.

Wei Jun

I am not sure. Mobile phones have many advantages, but they also have problems. Some students may bully others online or take photos without permission. Maybe the school should allow only simple phones, not smartphones.

Aisha

I think students should be allowed to bring their phones because they can be useful for learning. We can use educational apps, watch learning videos and do research. It also helps us keep in touch with our parents after school.

Arman

I do not think students need to bring their phones. We are in school to study and make friends, not to use phones. If everyone uses their phones, we may not talk to each other. It is better to focus on our lessons and enjoy school life.
