Conversation: Between Classes at a University in Quito

Sofia: Hey, Diego! Where do you usually eat lunch between classes?

Diego: (0) Personally, I'd rather bring lunch from home because it's cheaper than buying food on campus.

Sofia: That's a good idea! (1) _____ eating healthy food should be a priority for university students?

Diego: (2) _____. Eating well helps us concentrate and have more energy for our classes.

Sofia: True, but some students say healthy food is too expensive. (3) _____ healthy meals always cost more than fast food.

Diego: (4) _____ but preparing food at home and buying fruit at local markets can help students save money.

Sofia: That's interesting! (5) _____? Why do you think students often choose fast food instead of healthier options?

Diego: I think convenience is the main reason. Many students have busy schedules and don't have enough time to prepare meals.

Sofia: (6) _____ eating habits among university students in Quito?

Diego: I think universities should offer more affordable, healthy meals in their cafeterias.

Sofia: (7) _____ Universities could also provide more information about nutrition and healthy eating.

Diego: Exactly! Small changes could make a big difference.
