

i'd like a Cappuccino, please!

A. VOCABULARY: ordering food and drinks

Listen to a couple ordering food at a restaurant and answer the questions.

- | | |
|--|--------------|
| • The woman orders Soup of the Day for her starter. | TRUE / FALSE |
| • The woman orders chicken and rice for her main course. | TRUE / FALSE |
| • The man orders a burger with bacon and cheese. | TRUE / FALSE |
| • The woman orders wine and the man orders beer. | TRUE / FALSE |
| • The man chooses apple pie and cream for dessert. | TRUE / FALSE |
| • The woman chooses white chocolate cake for dessert. | TRUE / FALSE |

Complete the conversations

Conversation 1

Waiter: Good afternoon, what can I _____ you?
Customer: _____ I get a hamburger and chips, please?
Waiter: Sure, anything to _____ ?
Customer: Yes, a fruit juice, _____. What is the juice today?
Waiter: Orange.
Customer: Great, thank you. How _____ is that?
Waiter: Eight dollars, please.
Customer: Here you go.
Waiter: Thanks, have a nice day.

can drink get much please

Conversation 2

Customer: Hi.
Waiter: Hello, what would you _____ ?
Customer: A grilled cheese sandwich and a _____ of coffee, please.
Waiter: Ok, _____ else?
Customer: No, thank you. Oh, actually, can I _____ a piece of chocolate cake?
Waiter: _____, of course. That is seven dollars, please.
Customer: Here, thank you.

anything
cup have like yes