Apitatán – An Artist of Everyday Stories

Apitatán (Quito, 1987) is an artist who paints everyday stories. His sketches draw on conversations he hears throughout the city. They are a reflection of Latin American culture. They include people with sharp, geometric outlines, often giving dark looks or wide smiles with missing teeth. These characters represent different generations and are often humorous. Apitatán's artwork changes forgotten urban spaces into reflections that remind us to laugh at ourselves, which is good for us. With vibrant colors inspired by Andean textures and Ecuadorian landscapes, he shares his experiences and personal vision through murals across Latin America, the USA, and Europe. Apitatán is a true artist by conviction and a true creative by nature. He puts his heart into every sketch he does. Apitatán leaves an artistic trail wherever he walks, paying tribute to the beauty of simplicity.

a) _____ Apitatán paints stories about everyday life.

b) _____ His sketches are inspired by conversations he hears in museums.

c) _____ His artwork represents Latin American culture.

d) _____ All his characters have happy faces and perfect teeth.
