I. Complete the sentences with the appropriate reflexive pronouns.

1) I taught _____to play the piano and I've been playing for years.

2) He cut _____while trying to open the box with a knife.

3) They prepared _____for the big trip by going to bed early.

4) The dog hurt _____after it jumped over the fence.

5) He expressed _____clearly during the meeting.

6) She often talks to _____when she's nervous.

7) We really enjoyed _____on the walk to the top of the mountain.

8) The cat cleaned _____after it finished eating.

9) I promised _____that I would study harder.

10) She introduced _____to the new neighbours.

II. Choose a, b or c.

The headteacher took _____ class on a day trip to the airport last week. A flight attendant was showing _____ the cockpit of a plane when _____ stumbled, fell on the controls, accidentally pressed some buttons and _____ adventure began.

The plane started moving and soon _____ were flying. The flight attendant couldn't believe _____ eyes. She kept screaming that _____ was responsible for the plane. Finally, after she had calmed down, she managed to land the plane by _____, with the help of the air traffic controller. She's a pilot now.

The headteacher _____ was so scared that _____ couldn't speak until after _____ had landed. Of course, he blamed _____ for everything. I told _____ that it wasn't all _____ fault. After all, it was accident.

Anyway, the other students enjoyed _____ very much on our great adventure.

They thanked _____ for entertaining _____.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

III. Read the text about unique jobs in the world and choose the correct answer for the questions.

Unusual and wonderful jobs

A. Chocolate consultant

If you love chocolate, becoming a chocolate consultant could be an exciting job. There are various types of chocolate consultants, so you can follow the best career path for you. You could work full-time with well-known brands or focus on smaller brands that specialise in specific types of chocolate.

To be successful in this job, you must have a passion for chocolate and an interest in understanding the many varieties of cocoa. For this reason, you need a lot of knowledge in certain subjects. Chemistry and food-based subjects are particularly useful. Although you could work for companies that produce chocolate-based products, you could also be in charge of your career, advising chocolate buyers on which products to buy or running chocolate-tasting events.

B. LEGO sculptor

Many of us have enjoyed building things with LEGO blocks as children, but for some people, this childhood activity can turn into a career. LEGO has temporary jobs and long-term positions for certified professionals who create models and sets for the company. These LEGO sculptors work within specific themes and are based in Legoland Discovery Centres around the world.

Becoming a LEGO sculptor is quite challenging. There are usually only between nine and 30 jobs available worldwide. To be hired, you need to successfully complete different tasks, including building difficult LEGO models.

C. Island caretaker

This role is often described as the best job in the world, and it's easy to see why! In 2009, the Queensland Tourism Board created a position to promote the Islands of the Great Barrier Reef. The lucky employee from the UK – chosen among thousands of applicants – earned £73,400 on a temporary job for six months, living on an island in the Great Barrier Reef. His job involved swimming, exploring underwater, and having fun while filming and blogging about his experiences. At the end of his contract, the British island caretaker was promoted to a new job as a Global Tourism Ambassador, representing Queensland tourism around the world.

D. Shark tank cleaner

Cleaning windows might not sound thrilling, but what if you did it in the water surrounded by sharks? That would be a different story, surely! Shark tank cleaners have to swim with sharks to make the tank's glass clean and shiny while visitors watch the whole process. This job requires a person who is not only brave but also a strong swimmer and experienced diver. Of course, if you're afraid of sharks, it might be safer to look for other opportunities!

E. Professional sleeper

If you love sleeping and can't get enough of it, why not turn that passion into a career? Professional sleepers often participate in sleep studies, but there are also more unusual opportunities. For example, in 2009, women were hired for a temporary job where they were paid to sleep as part of a 'living art' exhibit at The New Museum of Contemporary Art in New York while tourists visited the museum.

1. Which of these jobs turns a boring task into excitement?
2. Which of these jobs is useful for research?
3. In which of these jobs can you choose to be your own boss?

LIVEWORKSHEETS

4. Which of these jobs requires you to do different activities in water?
5. Which of these jobs requires you to be among the best in the world?
6. Which of these jobs requires an education?
7. Which of these jobs usually starts as a hobby?
8. Which of these jobs can be considered a type of artistic performance?

LIVEWORKSHEETS