A real disaster movie!

The filming of Made on Saturn has been one disaster after another. Last week's fire had a dramatic [9] affect / effect, temporarily shutting down production. The [10] principal / principle actor also made some [11] allusion / illusion that many scenes already filmed would have to be reshot, as they were lost in the inferno. While nobody from the company has [12] implied / inferred in any statements to the media that production will cease completely, there is no doubt that a number of disasters have [13] affected / effected the film. Firstly, the two stars were chosen to [14] complement / compliment each other perfectly, but one then had to drop out due to 'illness'. However, after numerous reports of heated rows on set, and some rather inflammatory statements on Twitter, we can probably [15] imply / infer that they simply couldn't get along. Then there was a crew strike for three weeks, and now, only days ago, a fire on set.

Whatever happens with Made on Saturn, we should be under no [16] allusion / illusion that this has been an easy film to make. We should [17] complement / compliment the director, who has stuck with this, as he was recently quoted saying, 'I'm won't stop making this film. It's the [18] principal / principle of it now. I will not have a movie beat me!'

GRAMMAR: Future tenses

Choose the correct options to complete the text.

Humans have varying degrees of success with predicting the future. For things in our control, it's easy. I know that [1] I'm going to have / I have a haircut next Tuesday as it's an appointment. This is also true for fixed events. I can say [2] I'll have met / I'll meet you in London at 10:30 because the train [3] is leaving / leaves from my town at 9:45. However, I can't say that this time next week [4] I'm watching / I'll be watching TV with any certainty because my plans may change. And when we talk about what [5] we'll have accomplished / we're accomplishing in the more distant future, we tend to be very optimistic because we underestimate time. We say things like 'Once [6] I've finished / I'll finish decorating the living room, I'll start fixing the car. In our minds, we're bound [7] finished / to finish the decorating in about a week, but actually it takes a lot longer!

Hi Ali,

It's Erika here. I'm calling to ask if you want to see the final production of Shakespeare's Hamlet at the River Theatre on Saturday with Ella and me. It [18] will have started at 7:30, but we've decided that [19] we'll go to get there earlier – at about 6:30. The tickets say that we're [20] arriving at least 30 minutes early, but Ella's sure that it [21] is really busy at 7:00 and we [22] aren't finding parking at that time. I think it should be fun. My daughter saw it last week and said it was entertaining, but a few of the actors were a little weak. By the time we see, they [23] will practise more and hopefully they [24] are going to perform better. Anyway, as soon as you know whether you can come, [25] are you going to you let me know? Bye
