The First Civalizations

Process of removing excess water from the soil. _____

Technique to supply water to land or crops. _____

All workers in a country, area, company, etc. _____

Trade goods or services in exchange for other goods or services. _____

The act of transmitting information to one or more persons. _____

Writing tool made from wood or read. _____

Egyptian hand-operated device to lift buckets of water. _____

A city and its surrounding area,forming a small independent region with its own political organization. _____

Government of a politically organized society. _____

Opposition between two persons or groups to achieve the same thing. _____

Classification of groups of people who make up a society, ranging from the most to the least powerful. _____

Particular authority or influence attributed to individuals. _____

Money that inhabitants must give the state to pay public expenses. _____

The system that ensures the application of written laws. _____

A system of practices and beliefs held by a society or group. _____

A gift to a god. _____

A long poem telling the story of heroic figures. _____

Traditional story that explains the world, often involving deities. _____

A System of religious rites centered on a particular figure or object. _____

Multi-story temples that often reflected the wealth of the city-state in ancient Mesopotamia. _____

Stylus

Rivalry

City-State

Epic

Social Hierarchy

Offering

Irrigation

Ziggurat

Tax

Cult

Workforce

Shadoof

Justice

Drainage

Religion

Barter

State

Power

Communication

Myth

LIVEWORKSHEETS