Read the following sentences and underline the independent clauses.

- Because the rain poured heavily all afternoon, the outdoor soccer match was canceled.
- She loves to read mystery novels while she drinks a cup of hot chamomile tea.
- Although he studied diligently for weeks, he was still nervous about the final physics exam.
- The stray cat purred loudly when the kind neighbor gave it a bowl of fresh milk.
- Whenever the church bell rings at noon, the town square gets crowded with tourists.
- The electricity went out, but the family lit candles and played board games.
- After the sun set and before the moon rose, the fireflies illuminated the quiet meadow.
- I stayed home from work today because I came down with a fever and since the office was undergoing repairs.
- The train arrived right on schedule, so we quickly boarded, and the conductor checked our tickets.
- Although the room was freezing, she refused to turn on the heater until her roommates arrived home.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Read the following 10 sentences and classify each one as Simple, Compound, or Complex.

- The ancient grandfather clock in the hallway chimed three times. _____
- Mark wanted to buy a new guitar, but he decided to save his money for college instead._____
- Since the bakery ran out of chocolate croissants, I ordered a blueberry muffin instead. _____
- The children laughed and played tag on the sunlit playground grass. _____
- You can finish your science project tonight, or you can wake up early tomorrow to complete it. _____
- When the temperature drops below freezing, the small pond near our house turns to ice. _____
- Maria practiced her violin solo every single day until her fingers hurt. _____
- The swift brown fox jumped over the lazy sleeping hound, yet the hound did not wake up. _____
- Lightning flashed across the dark sky; a loud crash of thunder followed immediately. _____
- Even though the hike was steep and exhausting, the breathtaking view at the summit was totally worth it. _____

LIVEWORKSHEETS

The following 5 sentences are compound-complex. Your main job in this section is to isolate and underline the Compound Sentence part.

- Although the weather forecast predicted clear skies, dark storm clouds rolled in quickly, and we had to pack up our picnic.
- She bought a new laptop because her old one stopped working, but she still needs to install her favorite software.
- The dogs barked loudly, and the horses neighed in their stalls after the sudden thunderstorm startled them.
- He couldn't attend the meeting because he was stuck in heavy traffic, so he asked his colleague to take detailed notes.
- The museum closed early, but the visitors did not leave until the security guard gave a final warning.

The following 5 sentences are compound-complex. Your main job in this section is to isolate and underline the Complex Sentence part.

- When the bell finally rang, the students rushed out of the classroom, and they cheered.
- While the chef prepared the appetizers, the guests mingled in the garden, and the live band began to play soft jazz music.
- Before the play began, the actors went over their lines backstage, and the stage crew made their final lighting checks.
- As long as you follow the safety rules, you can ride the zip line, but you must wear a helmet at all times.
- If the flight gets delayed, we can wait in the airport lounge, or we can grab dinner at the nearby restaurant.

LIVEWORKSHEETS