1. Read the passage carefully!

Study planners help individuals allocate their time wisely, ensuring that each task is given the attention it deserves. With clear time blocks for different subjects or assignments, students can find themselves juggling multiple responsibilities with poise and ease. This not only assists with adhering to deadlines but also fosters a sense of discipline. Imagine a student sitting down with their planner at the start of the week, mapping out their schedule. By doing so, they create a realistic approach to their workload, making overwhelming tasks feel more achievable.

Moreover, educators can also leverage study planners to model time management skills for their students. By encouraging students to track their assignments and set realistic deadlines, teachers actively engage in their pupils' learning process. This can instill valuable lessons on prioritization and responsibility. After all, strong time management skills garnered using planners can benefit students beyond the classroom and into their future professional lives.

What valuable skills can students develop by using study planners?

A. Creativity and communication.

B. Leadership and teamwork.

C. Prioritization and responsibility.

D. Critical thinking and problem-solving.

E. Negotiation and public speaking.

Answer: C

2. Read the passage carefully!
Study planners help individuals allocate their time wisely, ensuring that each task is given the attention it deserves. With clear time blocks for different subjects or assignments, students can find themselves juggling multiple responsibilities with poise and ease. This not only assists with adhering to deadlines but also fosters a sense of discipline. Imagine a student sitting down with their planner at the start of the week, mapping out their schedule. By doing so, they create a realistic approach to their workload, making overwhelming tasks feel more achievable.
Moreover, educators can also leverage study planners to model time management skills for their students. By encouraging students to track their assignments and set realistic deadlines, teachers actively engage in their pupils' learning process. This can instill valuable lessons on prioritization and responsibility. After all, strong time management skills garnered through the use of planners can benefit students beyond the classroom and into their future professional lives.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

According to the text, what is the main purpose of using a study planner?

A. To reduce the number of assignments students receive and manage their time.
B. To help students allocate their time wisely and manage their responsibilities.
C. To replace teachers' instructions about homework.
D. To encourage students to spend more time studying one subject wisely.
E. To eliminate deadlines for school assignments.
Answer: B

3. Read the passage carefully!
Study planners help individuals allocate their time wisely, ensuring that each task is given the attention it deserves. With clear time blocks for different subjects or assignments, students can find themselves juggling multiple responsibilities with poise and ease. This not only assists with adhering to deadlines but also fosters a sense of discipline. Imagine a student sitting down with their planner at the start of the week, mapping out their schedule. By doing so, they create a realistic approach to their workload, making overwhelming tasks feel more achievable.
Moreover, educators can also leverage study planners to model time management skills for their students. By encouraging students to track their assignments and set realistic deadlines, teachers actively engage in their pupils' learning process. This can instill valuable lessons on prioritization and responsibility. After all, strong time management skills garnered through the use of planners can benefit students beyond the classroom and into their future professional lives.

What valuable skills can students develop by using study planners?

A. Creativity and communication.
B. Leadership and teamwork.
C. Prioritization and responsibility.
D. Critical thinking and problem-solving.
E. Negotiation and public speaking.
Answer: C

4. Read the text carefully and choose the best answer!
In the heart of Indonesia's vibrant capital, Jakarta, stands the iconic Monas, one of Jakarta's most recognizable landmarks. Monas, short for Monument Nasional is more than just a monument; it stands as a powerful symbol of Indonesia's resilience, unity, and cultural heritage.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Visiting Monas allows individuals to connect with the nation's history and feel a sense of pride in its achievements. The monument's striking design and towering presence make it a must-see attraction for architecture enthusiasts. Its blend of traditional Indonesian motifs and modernist influences showcases the country's architectural heritage and creative ingenuity. Constructed under the visionary leadership of Indonesia's first president, Sukarno, Monas was inaugurated in 1975 as a tribute to the nation's Independence Day. Rising to a height of 132 meters, the monument dominates the city skyline, its gleaming spire serving as an inspiration of hope and inspiration for generations of Indonesians.

A central feature of the interior is the Eternal Flame, a symbolic representation of Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom. The flame, housed in a glass enclosure, burns perpetually as a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who fought for Indonesia.

What is the main purpose of the text?

A. To explain the process of constructing a national monument in Jakarta.
B. To describe the historical background and significance of Monas.
C. To compare traditional and modern buildings in Indonesia.
D. To explain how visitors can reach the top of Monas.
E. To describe the daily activities of people around Monas.

Answer: B

5. Read the text carefully and choose the best answer!

In the heart of Indonesia's vibrant capital, Jakarta, stands the iconic Monas, one of Jakarta's most recognizable landmarks. Monas, short for Monument Nasional is more than just a monument; it stands as a powerful symbol of Indonesia's resilience, unity, and cultural heritage.

Visiting Monas allows individuals to connect with the nation's history and feel a sense of pride in its achievements. The monument's striking design and towering presence make it a must-see attraction for architecture enthusiasts. Its blend of traditional Indonesian motifs and modernist influences showcases the country's architectural heritage and creative ingenuity. Constructed under the visionary leadership of Indonesia's first president, Sukarno, Monas was inaugurated in 1975 as a tribute to the nation's Independence Day. Rising to a height of 132 meters, the monument dominates the city skyline, its gleaming spire serving as an inspiration of hope and inspiration for generations of Indonesians.

A central feature of the interior is the Eternal Flame, a symbolic representation of Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom. The flame, housed in a glass enclosure, burns perpetually as a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who fought for Indonesia.

What does the Eternal Flame inside Monas symbolize?

A. The technological development of Indonesia.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

B. The economic growth of Jakarta.
C. The architectural creativity of Indonesian people.
D. Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom.
E. The achievements of Indonesia's first president.
Answer: D

6. Read the text carefully and choose the best answer!

In the heart of Indonesia's vibrant capital, Jakarta, stands the iconic Monas, one of Jakarta's most recognizable landmarks. Monas, short for Monument Nasional is more than just a monument; it stands as a powerful symbol of Indonesia's resilience, unity, and cultural heritage.

Visiting Monas allows individuals to connect with the nation's history and feel a sense of pride in its achievements. The monument's striking design and towering presence make it a must-see attraction for architecture enthusiasts. Its blend of traditional Indonesian motifs and modernist influences showcases the country's architectural heritage and creative ingenuity. Constructed under the visionary leadership of Indonesia's first president, Sukarno, Monas was inaugurated in 1975 as a tribute to the nation's Independence Day. Rising to a height of 132 meters, the monument dominates the city skyline, its gleaming spire serving as an inspiration of hope and inspiration for generations of Indonesians.

A central feature of the interior is the Eternal Flame, a symbolic representation of Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom. The flame, housed in a glass enclosure, burns perpetually as a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who fought for Indonesia.

Why does the writer describe Monas as more than just a monument?
A. Because Monas is the tallest building in Southeast Asia and attracts international investors.
B. Because Monas represents Indonesia's historical struggles, national unity, and cultural identity.
C. Because Monas combines modern technology with traditional entertainment facilities.
D. Because Monas was designed specifically to become a center for government activities.
E. Because Monas provides opportunities for architects to develop modern construction techniques.
Answer: B

7. Read this pasage carefully!

The National Museum of Indonesia is one of the most important historical museums in the country. Located in Central Jakarta, the museum is widely known as Museum Gajah because of the bronze elephant statue in front of its building. It was established in 1778 and has become an important place for preserving Indonesia's cultural heritage.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

The museum houses thousands of historical objects collected from different regions of Indonesia. Visitors can explore ancient statues, traditional clothing, historical documents, ceramics, and archaeological collections. Each object provides valuable information about the traditions, beliefs, and lifestyles of Indonesian communities in the past.

One of the museum's interesting features is its collection of ancient statues from Hindu-Buddhist kingdoms. These statues demonstrate the artistic skills and religious influences that shaped Indonesian civilization. The museum also uses modern exhibition facilities to help visitors understand historical information more easily.

For students and researchers, the National Museum is more than a tourist attraction. It provides an opportunity to learn about the nation's identity through real historical evidence. By preserving and displaying these valuable collections, the museum helps younger generations appreciate their cultural roots and understand the importance of protecting national heritage.

Why is the National Museum also known as Museum Gajah?

A. Because it has a large collection of elephant fossils.
B. Because its main building is designed in the shape of an elephant.
C. Because there is a bronze elephant statue in front of the building.
D. Because elephants were the main transportation in ancient Indonesia.
E. Because the museum was established by an elephant conservation organization.

Answer: C

8. Read the passage below!

The National Museum of Indonesia is one of the most important historical museums in the country. Located in Central Jakarta, the museum is widely known as Museum Gajah because of the bronze elephant statue in front of its building. It was established in 1778 and has become an important place for preserving Indonesia's cultural heritage.

The museum houses thousands of historical objects collected from different regions of Indonesia. Visitors can explore ancient statues, traditional clothing, historical documents, ceramics, and archaeological collections. Each object provides valuable information about the traditions, beliefs, and lifestyles of Indonesian communities in the past.

One of the museum's interesting features is its collection of ancient statues from Hindu-Buddhist kingdoms. These statues demonstrate the artistic skills and religious influences that shaped Indonesian civilization. The museum also uses modern exhibition facilities to help visitors understand historical information more easily.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

For students and researchers, the National Museum is more than a tourist attraction. It provides an opportunity to learn about the nation's identity through real historical evidence. By preserving and displaying these valuable collections, the museum helps younger generations appreciate their cultural roots and understand the importance of protecting national heritage.
Which of the following objects can visitors find in the National Museum?
A. Modern computers, smartphones, and digital cameras.
B. Ancient statues, traditional clothing, and historical documents.
C. Aircraft engines, robots, and electronic equipment.
D. Contemporary paintings and international fashion products.
E. Agricultural machines and modern industrial equipme
Answer: B

9. Read the passage below!

The National Museum of Indonesia is one of the most important historical museums in the country. Located in Central Jakarta, the museum is widely known as Museum Gajah because of the bronze elephant statue in front of its building. It was established in 1778 and has become an important place for preserving Indonesia's cultural heritage.

The museum houses thousands of historical objects collected from different regions of Indonesia. Visitors can explore ancient statues, traditional clothing, historical documents, ceramics, and archaeological collections. Each object provides valuable information about the traditions, beliefs, and lifestyles of Indonesian communities in the past.

One of the museum's interesting features is its collection of ancient statues from Hindu-Buddhist kingdoms. These statues demonstrate the artistic skills and religious influences that shaped Indonesian civilization. The museum also uses modern exhibition facilities to help visitors understand historical information more easily.

For students and researchers, the National Museum is more than a tourist attraction. It provides an opportunity to learn about the nation's identity through real historical evidence. By preserving and displaying these valuable collections, the museum helps younger generations appreciate their cultural roots and understand the importance of protecting national heritage.

Which of the following objects can visitors find in the National Museum?
A. Modern computers, smartphones, and digital cameras.
B. Ancient statues, traditional clothing, and historical documents.
C. Aircraft engines, robots, and electronic equipment.
D. Contemporary paintings and international fashion products.
E. Agricultural machines and modern industrial equipment.
Answer: B

LIVEWORKSHEETS

10. Read the passage carefully to answer the questions!

Mendut was built in ninth century with many Syailendra heritages. The 26.4 metres tall temple is facing northwest. The stairs projecting from the northwest side square elevated base is adorned with Makara statue on each sides, the side of the stairwall carved with bas-relief of Jataka fable narrating the animal story of buddhist teaching. The square terrace surrounding the body of the temple was meant for pradakshina or circumambulating ritual, walking clockwise around the temple. The outer walls is adorned with bas-reliefs of Boddhisattvas (buddhist divinities), such as Avalokitesvara, Maitreya, Cunda, Ksitigarbha, Samantabhadra, Mahakarunika Avalokitesvara, Vajrapani, Manjusri, Akasagarbha, and Boddhisattvadevi Prajnaparamita among other buddhist figures. Originally the temple had two chambers, a small chamber in the front, and the large main chamber in the center. The roof and some parts of the front chamber walls are missing. The inner wall of front chamber is adorned with bas-relief of Hariti surrounds by children, Atavaka on the other side, Kalpataru, also groups of devatas divinities flying in heaven.

What is the purpose of the pradakshina ritual?

A. To climb the temple and reach its highest point.

B. To walk clockwise around the temple as a religious ritual.

C. To decorate the temple with Buddhist symbols.

D. To worship the Makara statues near the stairs.

E. To enter the temple's main chamber.

Answer: B

11. Read the passage carefully to answer the questions!

Mendut was built in ninth century with many Syailendra heritages. The 26.4 metres tall temple is facing northwest. The stairs projecting from the northwest side square elevated base is adorned with Makara statue on each sides, the side of the stairwall carved with bas-relief of Jataka fable narrating the animal story of buddhist teaching. The square terrace surrounding the body of the temple was meant for pradakshina or circumambulating ritual, walking clockwise around the temple. The outer walls is adorned with bas-reliefs of Boddhisattvas (buddhist divinities), such as Avalokitesvara, Maitreya, Cunda, Ksitigarbha, Samantabhadra, Mahakarunika Avalokitesvara, Vajrapani, Manjusri, Akasagarbha, and Boddhisattvadevi Prajnaparamita among other buddhist figures. Originally the temple had two chambers, a small chamber in the front, and the large main chamber in the center. The roof and some parts of the front chamber walls are missing. The inner wall of front chamber is adorned with bas-relief of Hariti surrounds by children, Atavaka on the other side, Kalpataru, also groups of devatas divinities flying in heaven.

Based on the description of Mendut Temple, what can be inferred about the relationship between its architectural design and Buddhist religious practices?

A. The temple was primarily designed as a residence for Buddhist monks.

B. Every architectural feature served only a decorative purpose without religious meaning.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

C. The temple's structures and decorations were designed to support religious activities and communicate Buddhist beliefs.

D. The temple was built mainly to demonstrate the military power of the Syailendra dynasty.

E. The temple's chambers were used exclusively for storing religious objects.

Answer: C

12. Read the passage carefully to answer the questions!

Mendut was built in ninth century with many Syailendra heritages. The 26.4 metres tall temple is facing northwest. The stairs projecting from the northwest side square elevated base is adorned with Makara statue on each sides, the side of the stairwall carved with bas-relief of Jataka fable narrating the animal story of buddhist teaching. The square terrace surrounding the body of the temple was meant for pradakshina or circumambulating ritual, walking clockwise around the temple. The outer walls is adorned with bas-reliefs of Boddhisattvas (buddhist divinities), such as Avalokitesvara, Maitreya, Cunda, Ksitigarbha, Samantabhadra, Mahakarunika Avalokitesvara, Vajrapani, Manjusri, Akasagarbha, and Boddhisattvadevi Prajnaparamita among other buddhist figures. Originally the temple had two chambers, a small chamber in the front, and the large main chamber in the center. The roof and some parts of the front chamber walls are missing. The inner wall of front chamber is adorned with bas-relief of Hariti surrounds by children, Atavaka on the other side, Kalpataru, also groups of devatas divinities flying in heaven.

Why were animal stories from Jataka fables carved on the side of the temple stairs?

A. To entertain visitors while they were climbing the stairs.

B. To represent the animals that lived around the temple.

C. To communicate Buddhist teachings through meaningful stories and symbols.

D. To show the artistic skills of ancient temple builders.

E. To describe the history of the Syailendra dynasty.

13. Read the passage carefully to answer the questions!

Mendut was built in ninth century with many Syailendra heritages. The 26.4 metres tall temple is facing northwest. The stairs projecting from the northwest side square elevated base is adorned with Makara statue on each sides, the side of the stairwall carved with bas-relief of Jataka fable narrating the animal story of buddhist teaching. The square terrace surrounding the body of the temple was meant for pradakshina or circumambulating ritual, walking clockwise around the temple. The outer walls is adorned with bas-reliefs of Boddhisattvas (buddhist divinities), such as Avalokitesvara, Maitreya, Cunda, Ksitigarbha, Samantabhadra, Mahakarunika Avalokitesvara, Vajrapani, Manjusri, Akasagarbha, and Boddhisattvadevi Prajnaparamita among other buddhist figures. Originally the temple had two chambers, a small chamber in the front, and the large main chamber in the center. The roof and some parts of the front chamber walls are missing. The inner wall of front chamber is adorned with bas-relief of Hariti surrounds by children, Atavaka on the other side, Kalpataru, also groups of devatas divinities flying in heaven.

Which of the following figures is mentioned as a bas-relief on the inner wall of the front chamber?

LIVEWORKSHEETS

A. Buddha Gautama

B. Vishnu

C. Shiva

D. Hariti

E. Brahma

14. Read the passage carefully to answer the question!

Purwosari Hill is part of the interesting place must visit in Magelang and Borobudur area. Other tips to visit to enjoy the sunrise besides another hill, this Purwosari Hill can be the exact hill to visit. The area is huge and width with the foggy nuance and big plant trees across the hill. The government before didn't realize that the Purwosari hill would be as famous as Borobudur, so that, right now on, this Purwosari hill is opened as a public tourism.

Purwosari hill before, was named as Cemuri mas, but after it become famous, the people change it as Purwosari hill. This spot of sunrise become the good one over another hill, from this spot you can see the whole top of the Borobudur temple from the other side. The route to reach the hill is easier than other hills; it will take 15 minutes to hike with the low ascent, so this hill will be high recommended for any ages of the people.

To enjoy the sunrise, you just have to prepare yourself with the warm clothes due to the lowest temperature. Also don't forget to bring your camera, and video recorder to keep the beautiful scenery during the sunrise. Up of the hill you can also enjoy the tea and a cup of coffee to be your sweetest company during the sunrise. You will never regret to go to this hill.

What was the previous name of Purwosari Hill?

A. Borobudur Hill

B. Cemuri Mas

C. Magelang Hill

D. Sunrise Hill

E. Menoreh Hill

Answer: B

15. Read the passage carefully to answer the question!

Purwosari Hill is part of the interesting place must visit in Magelang and Borobudur area. Other tips to visit to enjoy the sunrise besides another hill, this Purwosari Hill can be the exact hill to visit. The area is huge and width with the foggy nuance and big plant trees across the hill. The government before didn't realize that the Purwosari hill would be as famous as Borobudur, so that, right now on, this Purwosari hill is opened as a public tourism.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Purwosari hill before, was named as Cemuri mas, but after it become famous, the people change it as Purwosari hill. This spot of sunrise become the good one over another hill, from this spot you can see the whole top of the Borobudur temple from the other side. The route to reach the hill is easier than other hills; it will take 15 minutes to hike with the low ascent, so this hill will be high recommended for any ages of the people.

To enjoy the sunrise, you just have to prepare yourself with the warm clothes due to the lowest temperature. Also don't forget to bring your camera, and video recorder to keep the beautiful scenery during the sunrise. Up of the hill you can also enjoy the tea and a cup of coffee to be your sweetest company during the sunrise. You will never regret to go to this hill.

Why does the writer recommend Purwosari Hill for visitors of different ages?

A. It provides free accommodation for all visitors and a short hiking duratio.

B. It offers various challenging hiking activities and a short hiking duratio.

C. It has an easy route with a low ascent and a short hiking duration.

D. It is located directly beside Borobudur Temple.

E. It provides transportation to the top of the hill.

Answer C

16. Read the passage carefully to answer the question!

Purwosari Hill is part of the interesting place must visit in Magelang and Borobudur area. Other tips to visit to enjoy the sunrise besides another hill, this Purwosari Hill can be the exact hill to visit. The area is huge and width with the foggy nuance and big plant trees across the hill. The government before didn't realize that the Purwosari hill would be as famous as Borobudur, so that, right now on, this Purwosari hill is opened as a public tourism.

Purwosari hill before, was named as Cemuri mas, but after it become famous, the people change it as Purwosari hill. This spot of sunrise become the good one over another hill, from this spot you can see the whole top of the Borobudur temple from the other side. The route to reach the hill is easier than other hills; it will take 15 minutes to hike with the low ascent, so this hill will be high recommended for any ages of the people.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

To enjoy the sunrise, you just have to prepare yourself with the warm clothes due to the lowest temperature. Also don't forget to bring your camera, and video recorder to keep the beautiful scenery during the sunrise. Up of the hill you can also enjoy the tea and a cup of coffee to be your sweetest company during the sunrise. You will never regret to go to this hill.

What should visitors bring to enjoy their visit to Purwosari Hill?

A. Swimming equipment and sports shoes.

B. Warm clothes, a camera, and a video recorder.

C. Food supplies, a map, binoculars, and camping equipment.

D. A map, binoculars, glasses and hiking sticks.

E. Umbrellas, sunglasses, and raincoats.

Answer: B

17. Read the passage carefully to answer the question!

Purwosari Hill is part of the interesting place must visit in Magelang and Borobudur area. Other tips to visit to enjoy the sunrise besides another hill, this Purwosari Hill can be the exact hill to visit. The area is huge and width with the foggy nuance and big plant trees across the hill. The government before didn't realize that the Purwosari hill would be as famous as Borobudur, so that, right now on, this Purwosari hill is opened as a public tourism.

Purwosari hill before, was named as Cemuri mas, but after it become famous, the people change it as Purwosari hill. This spot of sunrise become the good one over another hill, from this spot you can see the whole top of the Borobudur temple from the other side. The route to reach the hill is easier than other hills; it will take 15 minutes to hike with the low ascent, so this hill will be high recommended for any ages of the people.

To enjoy the sunrise, you just have to prepare yourself with the warm clothes due to the lowest temperature. Also don't forget to bring your camera, and video recorder to keep the beautiful scenery during the sunrise. Up of the hill you can also enjoy the tea and a cup of coffee to be your sweetest company during the sunrise. You will never regret to go to this hill.

A family with elderly members wants to enjoy the sunrise and see Borobudur Temple from a different perspective. Based on the text, why would Purwosari Hill be a suitable destination for them?

A. The hill has a wide area with many restaurants and hotels.

B. Visitors can reach the top and explore the entire Borobudur area without walking because transportation is available.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

C. The hill offers a beautiful sunrise view of Borobudur and a relatively easy 15-minute hike.

D. The temperature is warm enough to make hiking comfortable for elderly visitors.

E. Visitors can explore the entire Borobudur area from the hill without climbing.

Answer: C

18. Read the text carefully and answer the following questions.

IT support and IT management teams play a key role in daily business operations. IT support teams are responsible for system maintenance, ensuring all your systems are up to date and secure. When a system or software problem occurs, your IT support team can troubleshoot to find the root cause.
From onboarding new team members to upgrading or maintaining existing systems, IT service management (ITSM) is essential. IT teams can set up new devices when you add a new team member or decide to upgrade, but they can also update outdated software and address login issues. Team members can even submit a service request to the IT support team when they need help with a specific issue.

What is the main responsibility of an IT support team in a company?

A. Developing marketing strategies to increase company profits.
B. Managing employee salaries and attendance records.
C. Maintaining computer systems and solving technical problems.
D. Designing advertisements for the company's products.
E. Organizing business meetings and employee training.
Answer: C

19. Read the text carefully and answer the following questions.

IT support and IT management teams play a key role in daily business operations. IT support teams are responsible for system maintenance, ensuring all your systems are up to date and secure. When a system or software problem occurs, your IT support team can troubleshoot to find the root cause.
From onboarding new team members to upgrading or maintaining existing systems, IT service management (ITSM) is essential. IT teams can set up new devices when you add a new team member or decide to upgrade, but they can also update outdated software and address login issues. Team members can even submit a service request to the IT support team when they need help with a specific issue.

According to the text, what can employees do when they experience a specific technical issue and need assistance?

LIVEWORKSHEETS

A. Replace all computer systems independently.
B. Submit a service request to the IT support team.
C. Upgrade the company's network infrastructure.
D. Contact the company's management department.
E. Install new operating systems without assistance.
Answer: B

20. Read the text carefully and choose the best answer!

In the heart of Indonesia's vibrant capital, Jakarta, stands the iconic Monas, one of Jakarta's most recognizable landmarks. Monas, short for Monument Nasional is more than just a monument; it stands as a powerful symbol of Indonesia's resilience, unity, and cultural heritage.

Visiting Monas allows individuals to connect with the nation's history and feel a sense of pride in its achievements. The monument's striking design and towering presence make it a must-see attraction for architecture enthusiasts. Its blend of traditional Indonesian motifs and modernist influences showcases the country's architectural heritage and creative ingenuity. Constructed under the visionary leadership of Indonesia's first president, Sukarno, Monas was inaugurated in 1975 as a tribute to the nation's Independence Day. Rising to a height of 132 meters, the monument dominates the city skyline, its gleaming spire serving as an inspiration of hope and inspiration for generations of Indonesians.

A central feature of the interior is the Eternal Flame, a symbolic representation of Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom. The flame, housed in a glass enclosure, burns perpetually as a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who fought for Indonesia.

What is the main purpose of the text?

A. To explain the process of constructing a national monument in Jakarta.

B. To describe the historical background and significance of Monas.
C. To compare traditional and modern buildings in Indonesia.
D. To explain how visitors can reach the top of Monas.
E. To describe the daily activities of people around Monas.
Answer: B

21. Read the text carefully and choose the best answer!

In the heart of Indonesia's vibrant capital, Jakarta, stands the iconic Monas, one of Jakarta's most recognizable landmarks. Monas, short for Monument Nasional is more than just a monument; it stands as a powerful symbol of Indonesia's resilience, unity, and cultural heritage.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Visiting Monas allows individuals to connect with the nation's history and feel a sense of pride in its achievements. The monument's striking design and towering presence make it a must-see attraction for architecture enthusiasts. Its blend of traditional Indonesian motifs and modernist influences showcases the country's architectural heritage and creative ingenuity. Constructed under the visionary leadership of Indonesia's first president, Sukarno, Monas was inaugurated in 1975 as a tribute to the nation's Independence Day. Rising to a height of 132 meters, the monument dominates the city skyline, its gleaming spire serving as an inspiration of hope and inspiration for generations of Indonesians.

A central feature of the interior is the Eternal Flame, a symbolic representation of Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom. The flame, housed in a glass enclosure, burns perpetually as a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who fought for Indonesia.

What does the Eternal Flame inside Monas symbolize?

A. The technological development of Indonesia.
B. The economic growth of Jakarta.
C. The architectural creativity of Indonesian people.
D. Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom.
E. The achievements of Indonesia's first president.
Answer: D

22. Read the text carefully and choose the best answer!

In the heart of Indonesia's vibrant capital, Jakarta, stands the iconic Monas, one of Jakarta's most recognizable landmarks. Monas, short for Monument Nasional is more than just a monument; it stands as a powerful symbol of Indonesia's resilience, unity, and cultural heritage.

Visiting Monas allows individuals to connect with the nation's history and feel a sense of pride in its achievements. The monument's striking design and towering presence make it a must-see attraction for architecture enthusiasts. Its blend of traditional Indonesian motifs and modernist influences showcases the country's architectural heritage and creative ingenuity. Constructed under the visionary leadership of Indonesia's first president, Sukarno, Monas was inaugurated in 1975 as a tribute to the nation's Independence Day. Rising to a height of 132 meters, the monument dominates the city skyline, its gleaming spire serving as an inspiration of hope and inspiration for generations of Indonesians.

A central feature of the interior is the Eternal Flame, a symbolic representation of Indonesia's enduring spirit and commitment to freedom. The flame, housed in a glass enclosure, burns perpetually as a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who fought for Indonesia.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Why does the writer describe Monas as more than just a monument?

A. Because Monas is the tallest building in Southeast Asia and attracts international investors.
B. Because Monas represents Indonesia's historical struggles, national unity, and cultural identity.
C. Because Monas combines modern technology with traditional entertainment facilities.
D. Because Monas was designed specifically to become a center for government activities.
E. Because Monas provides opportunities for architects to develop modern construction techniques.
Answer: B

23. Read the passage below!

The National Museum of Indonesia is one of the most important historical museums in the country. Located in Central Jakarta, the museum is widely known as Museum Gajah because of the bronze elephant statue in front of its building. It was established in 1778 and has become an important place for preserving Indonesia's cultural heritage.

The museum houses thousands of historical objects collected from different regions of Indonesia. Visitors can explore ancient statues, traditional clothing, historical documents, ceramics, and archaeological collections. Each object provides valuable information about the traditions, beliefs, and lifestyles of Indonesian communities in the past.

One of the museum's interesting features is its collection of ancient statues from Hindu-Buddhist kingdoms. These statues demonstrate the artistic skills and religious influences that shaped Indonesian civilization. The museum also uses modern exhibition facilities to help visitors understand historical information more easily.

For students and researchers, the National Museum is more than a tourist attraction. It provides an opportunity to learn about the nation's identity through real historical evidence. By preserving and displaying these valuable collections, the museum helps younger generations appreciate their cultural roots and understand the importance of protecting national heritage.

Which of the following objects can visitors find in the National Museum?
A. Modern computers, smartphones, and digital cameras.
B. Ancient statues, traditional clothing, and historical documents.
C. Aircraft engines, robots, and electronic equipment.
D. Contemporary paintings and international fashion products.

LIVEWORKSHEETS