

8 Choose the correct option.

- Jacklyn wishes she talks / had talked / talked to her best friend before.
- I wish I can / could / could be stop biting my nails.
- Jeremy wishes he applied / had applied / applies sunscreen before he went to the beach.
- I wish I hadn't eaten / didn't eat / don't eat so much junk food at the party last night.
- Her friends wish she didn't disturb / doesn't disturb / hadn't disturbed them during the lessons.
- I wish I studied / had studied / could study more for the exams, I got low marks again.
- Linda wishes she weren't late / hadn't been late / couldn't be late to the classes.

9 Rewrite the sentences. First one is done as an example.

- I wish I hadn't spent too much time chatting online. I got low grades.
If I hadn't spent too much time chatting online, I wouldn't have got low grades.
- I wish I had listened to my teachers' advice. I made too many mistakes.
.....
- I wish I hadn't eaten a lot of junk food. I had a terrible stomachache.
.....
- I wish I had given up using my smart phone in class. I didn't understand the lessons.
.....
- I wish I hadn't lost heart while studying the university entrance exam. I didn't get a good result.
.....
- I wish I had lain in the shade. I had terrible sunburns.
.....
- I wish I hadn't bitten my nails. I couldn't polish them perfectly.
.....

10 Choose the closest meaning.

- I wish I had studied more on bad habits before I worked with kids.
 - I am glad I didn't study on bad habits.
 - I feel sorry that I didn't study on bad habits.
- I wish my sister hadn't got angry with me.
 - My sister got angry with me.
 - My sister didn't get angry with me.
- If I hadn't changed my job, I wouldn't have bought that house.
 - I changed my job so I could buy that house.
 - I didn't change my job so I could buy that house.
- If I had written a good essay, they could have accepted me to Harvard University.
 - I wrote a good essay, so they accepted me to Harvard University.
 - I didn't write a good essay, so they didn't accept me to Harvard University.