

First Grade

Teacher: María Félix Tapia Galván

Instrucciones: Lee ambos textos. Observa las imágenes y da clic en la bandera del país que lleve a cabo dicha actividad en el día de Independencia. (si ambos países celebran del mismo modo entonces da clic en ambas banderas)

CELEBRATION Independence Day

Mexico

The 16th of September is Independence Day in Mexico. On the night of the 15th some people go to the town square, listen to el grito, watch the fireworks and listen to mariachis. Some others have a big party and eat tacos, pozole and other delicious Mexican dishes. On the 16th, most major cities have a military parade. In the afternoon, people sometimes have picnics and play soccer with their family and friends.

The United States

The 4th of July is Independence Day in the United States. Most towns have a parade with marching bands. In the afternoon, people have barbecues and they usually eat hot dogs or hamburgers. They sometimes play baseball with their family and friends. In the evening, everyone watches the firework display.

They have a military parade

They have a parade
with marching bands

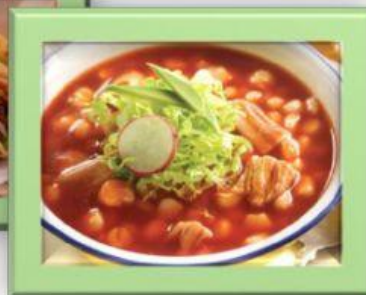

First Grade
Teacher: María Félix Tapia Galván

People, sometimes play soccer with their families and friends

People, sometimes play baseball with their families and friends

They eat tacos and pozole

They eat hot dogs or hamburgers

They watch fireworks

