Two young men broke into an important sports shop yesterday evening and stole some leather trainers, Barcelona FC jerseys, shorts and jackets. The owner of the shop, Robert Spencer, worked there all day and closed his shop at about 6 pm as usual. Then he drove home but when he was having dinner with his wife, the telephone rang. It was Martin Brown, who lives next to the shop. He told Mr Spencer the alarm was ringing, so Robert called the police and went to the shop again. The police arrived quickly and caught the two men. They were putting the most expensive things into bags. In fact, they were choosing the best things. The police also found the shop computer on the floor. The robbers did not put it in their bag because it was too heavy. In the end, the police arrested the two criminals and took them to the local police station. There a detective questioned them. They said they were planning to sell the clothes and use the money to buy a laptop.
