

Sharing a Shell

Complete the song

One crab, save in his shell,
Under the summer ,
Roaming all over the rock pool
In his wonderful home for .

Look! A blob, a bright blob.
"Please, let me share your shell.
Give me a ride to look for some
And perhaps I can help you as well."

Two sharing a shell,
Under a sky of .
Romping all over the rock pool
In their wonderful home for .

Look! A thing, trying to get in.
"Please, let me share your shell,
Let me inside to suck up the scraps
And perhaps I help you as well."

Three friends, a shell,
Down by the sparkling sea,
Rollocking all round the rock
In their wonderful home for .

What a squash! The friends have a row.
The crab and the blob split up,
Blob finds an empty tub
And crab finds a nice paper .

Two friends, sharing more,
Telling the world they're glad.
Poor little brush does the
And he knows that they all feel .

Look! A storm, a terrible ,
Crashing away all !
The tub and the cup are smashed on the rocks
Oh, what a terrible sight!

One shell, shiny and ,
Lying beside the sea,
Up pipes a voice saying: "Welcome
To this wonderful for three."

Three friends , sharing a shell,
as friends can be,
Rocketing all round the pool
In their wonderful home for three.
