I had my first date when I was 16, and it was terrible. I took the girl in the cinema but she didn't like the film and looked annoyed all evening; it was a bad start. Then, when I was 17, dated a girl for three months, but we ended when she met a boy who was two years older than me, and had a car. My first serious relationship was when I went to university. I met Melanie because we were on the same course. At first we were just friends then we started going out with each other, and after a few months we realised we were in love. We got engaged a couple of years after we left university. Then we got married the following year. We didn't want a big ceremony, so we had the wedding in the local church near Melanie's home. And then we went on our honeymoon to Greece. Just over three years later Melanie got pregnant, and our first son, Ben, was born just two days after our fourth wedding anniversary.
