Women in Sport

The first ancient Olympic Games date back to 776 BC but in those days only men could compete. Married women were not allowed to take part in the games, or even to watch them. Only single women could attend the competition. Some women did not accept this and dressed up as men to go to the games.

- 5 Although females couldn't compete in the ancient Olympic Games, they had their own opportunities for sporting competition. The Herean Games were for female athletes. They took place every four years to honour the goddess Hera, wife of Zeus.
- 10 The first modern Olympic Games were in 1896 in Athens. Fourteen nations took part in forty-three events with 241 athletes – 241 men and no women. Women made their first appearance in the modern games
- 15 four years later in Paris. There were twenty-two female competitors. Charlotte Cooper, a British tennis player, became the first woman to win an Olympic gold medal.
