The doggy tour of London

Have you ever heard about a tour bus for dogs? Well, such a bus around London for four days last year. The K9 bus                    over 160 animals with their owners for a tour of historical doggy places of the capital. Today we're talking to Miss Poodle who                    sightseeing with her owner, Jamie.

Did you                    the tour, Miss Poodle? - Very much! It was free, but first, we had to book the tour online. The event started at Lambeth Bridge so we                    there at 11 a.m. Then we                    for a few minutes to get in. Finally, the tour                    !

There was a tour guide on board who all the way                    about all the London landmarks connected with dogs. There are a lot of them, for example, Buckingham Palace, where the famous Royal corgis live with the Queen, or Hyde Park – the most famous dog walking place. The ride 90 minutes. It is definitely the strangest thing I've ever done with my owner.
