HOW DO PEOPLE EARN MONEY?

Have you ever heard the saying “money doesn’t grow on trees”? Well, it is true! People earn money by working a job. They act as producers. They can either produce goods or services.

Goods are something that you buy from a producer that you can hold and consume. Some examples are toys, food, books, clothes and a car. People who work in bakeries, factories, and other businesses where things are created are called producers

Services are something that someone does for you such as a haircut, being served at a restaurant, being taught to read or do math, and getting your car washed.

Both goods and services are very necessary and we need both to be able to have the things we need!

1. People don’t have to work to earn money. True / False
2. Producers only offer goods. True / False
3. Goods are something that you can’t hold or see. True / False
4. Services are something that only you can do for yourself. True / False
