

- Take a look at this chart

We use the verb "have" to express possession.		Negative
In the negative we use "don't have" or "doesn't have"
           I have            We have            You have            They have         	           He has            She has            It has         	           I don't have            We don't have            You don't have            They don't have 	           He doesn't have            She doesn't have            It doesn't have
           I have two cats.            They have long hair.         		           He has a new laptop.            She has short hair.
I don't have a car He doesn't have blue eyes

- Now read this magazine article about Lionel Messi and his family.
- Then choose the correct option:

This is Leo's family. They ARE / IS five.

Antonella is Leo's wife. She HAS / HAVE long straight HAIR / EYES. She IS / HAS tall and beautiful. Anto DON'T HAVE / DOESN'T HAVE blond hair. She HAS / HAVE dark hair.

Leo's kids ISN'T / AREN'T tall; they are short. They HAVE / HAS dark short EYES / HAIR and beautiful big eyes.

Leo HAVE / HAS a beard. He isn't TALL / STRAIGHT HAIR. He IS / ARE very good looking, too.

Keep Up
The Good
Work

