

Complete the article with the correct form of the word in CAPITALS.

How to impress at a job interview?

Are you looking for an _____ INTEREST job? Or maybe you've found one already? As you probably know, the job market today is very _____ COMPETE. So if you're lucky enough to be invited for an interview, it's _____ SENSE to consider how you can make the best impression. First, make sure you arrive on time. If you're _____ DEPEND on public transport, make allowances for delays and cancellations. Secondly, be careful how you look. Even if the employer is looking for someone _____ CREATE, it's best to avoid looking too way-out, like having a Mohawk haircut! Next, memorise what you have written on your resume. You'll look rather _____ IDIOT if you can't remember what you said there. Your employer will want you to be _____ COOPERATE so it's important to answer questions fully. Don't make long speeches though. And finally, don't worry! Interviews may sound scary, but if you prepare well they can turn into really _____ ENJOY experiences.

Complete the text with one word in each space.

A Job with a Difference

Are you looking forward to leaving school? Would you like _____ do one of the most unusual jobs in the world? Well, how _____ becoming an ostrich babysitter. You won't be _____ too much pressure – you just _____ to sit in a field full of ostriches and make sure they don't fight! Or perhaps you'd prefer to _____ a furniture tester? For this job, all you need to do while you're _____ work is to test chairs and beds – by sitting or lying on them! It's the perfect job for a couch potato – you know, someone who likes sitting and watching TV all the time – and so much nicer than being _____ your feet all day!