

GAP FILLING EXERCISE

Fill in the blanks in the video transcription give below.

Travelling makes you less ignorant. No matter how _____ you think you are. When you go to new places and experiences, new _____. You realize how close your mind actually was before you _____. You are always given _____ depending on what you are taught, what you are told by your parents. Travelling independently allows you to experience things and learn for yourself. You become more open-minded, more _____ of the situations, more aware of world events because you are involved in them. You are there.

Travelling throws you into new situations and _____ all your inhibitions. Whether staying at a hostel like I _____ and sleeping in a room with 20 other people or going on little _____ like little excursions with people you've never met before. Travelling _____ you into these situations and you just have to deal with it. You're not at home where you can sit in a room and just _____. You have to go out, you have to make the best of any situation. All your inhibitions just disappear.