A great summer vacation

I just returned from the greatest summer vacation! It was so fantastic, I never wanted it to end. I spent eight days in Paris, France. My best friends, Henry and Steve, went with me. We had a beautiful hotel room in the Latin Quarter, and it wasn't even expensive. We had a balcony with a wonderful view.

We visited many famous tourist places. My favorite was the Louvre, a well-known museum. I was always interested in art, so that was a special treat for me. The museum is so huge, you could spend weeks there. Henry got tired walking around the museum and said "Enough! I need to take a break and rest."

We took lots of breaks and sat in cafes along the river Seine. The French food we ate was delicious. The wines were tasty, too. Steve's favorite part of the vacation was the hotel breakfast. He said he would be happy if he could eat croissants like those forever. We had so much fun that we're already talking about our next vacation!

Movie Rating System

In 1968, the Motion Picture Association of America (MPAA) devised a voluntary rating system for movies. These guidelines replaced the earlier censorship in place called the Hays Code. The goal of this new system was to encourage parents to take a role in deciding what their children should and should not watch.

Today's Classification and Ratings Administration (CARA) gives cautionary warnings to families about the material in movies. These ratings take into consideration various factors such as violence, sexual content, substance abuse, and profane language. The ratings have received much criticism over the years, saying that there is too much emphasis on sexual content and language and not enough on violence. In other words, there are extremely violent movies that children have been allowed to see according to the rating that can have very negative effects on them.
