As a volunteer / engineer, my duties were to explore / entertain the elderly. For example, I would take them for walks / works, or play ping pong with them, whichever they ordered / preferred. In addition, I would read the newspaper for them if they asked. I would also hold "coffee club' every Sunday at 10:00 a.m., where they got their choice / noise of coffee or tea and some dreams / treats to go were with their hot drink. Sometimes, I even gave them manicures. Other times, I would just simply talk to them and they would tell me their life / file stories, and about when they were poorer / younger. It was interesting to hear about their life and how different / various things were in the past.

I believe volunteering makes a person feel worthy, as if they've accomplished something because they made someone else's life better or they made a change in their community somehow. Volunteering also shows that that person is generous, compassionate, and good-hearted, because he/she is kind enough to give up a few hours of their time and put it into their community. It also serves others without expecting to get anything out of their service. I believe a everyone should give back to their community because volunteering will make your community a more comforting and pleasing place to live in.

Volunteering helps a person to respect himself.

Volunteering makes positive changes in the community.

Volunteers show their worst traits of character.

Volunteering can make the community a better place.
