Last night I saw a movie that made me think about how everything is connected. In the movie, a girl moves to a small town to live with her father. If her mother won´t get remarried, she don't move to that place and she wouldn't knew a vampire. She was invited by her new friends to a party but, if she din't went to that party, she wouldn't seen that nice boy.

The day after the party she came to a picnic with his father, if she didn't came to the picnic, she will share time with the boy having a really nice time. At night they made a fire to eat mashmallows, the moon appeared and big teeth grew up from the boys mouth, If she sees his mouth, she noticed that he was a vampire.
