Fiction vs. Nonfiction
5th grade

Performance of understanding: The student identifies the structural and stylistic differences between fiction and non-fiction to show understanding of different writing genres by taking a quiz.

1. Read the texts:

Text A	Text B
The Dinosaur	Tyrannosaurus Rex
There was a sad dinosaur. He did not have any friend. Everyday the dinosaur sat on the grass. He saw a dog and a duck were playing with a ball. The duck rolled the ball and the dog ran to catch it. Suddenly the ball went far away until it arrived to the dinosaur. The dinosaur went and gave them the ball. The dog and the duck thanked the dinosaur. The dog and the duck asked the dinosaur to play with them. The dinosaur became very happy.	Tyrannosaurus Rex was one of the biggest meat-eating dinosaurs. It was as long as a big truck and taller than a giraffe. It had a huge head and powerful jaws. It had teeth as sharp as knives. Tyrannosaurus Rex had very strong back legs but its arms were very short. It only had two fingers on each hand. A long, sharp claw grew from each finger. Now you can see T. Rex bones in museums!

2. Read the sentences and select the correct option:

a. Text A is _____ because it tells a _____ b. Text B is _____ because it gives _____ about a specific topic.

c. Text A has a _____ that is a dinosaur.

d. Text B gives _____ about the T-Rex.

e. Both texts talk about _____.

3. Read the text:

There's a dinosaur in my kitchen and one in my garden and one walking down my street

Google has launched a new feature that lets you view lifelike dinosaurs through a smartphone camera.

The augmented* reality (AR) technology works like Pokemon Go – but the creatures are giant dinos that tower above you.

You can watch a T-rex stomp around your garden, and even cower* under a mammoth Brachiosaurus.

You can view the dinosaurs in 3D, rotating them and even zooming in to see them up close.

It also lets you get a better idea of how big the dinosaurs would've been in relation to real-world objects.

If a T-rex does not fit in your kitchen, here's how it could look in your street. Picture: Google

On Android phones, you'll even be able to hear their roars and thuds of footsteps.
It's thanks to a Google partnership with 3D designers at Ludia, Amblin Entertainment and Universal Brand Development.

"To create the 3D dinosaurs, our concept artists first did preliminary research to discover information about each creature," said Camilo Sanin of Ludia, the studio behind the Jurassic World Alive game.

"Not only did we draw research from various forms of literature, our artists also worked with paleontologists* and the Jurassic World team to make the assets* as accurate and realistic as possible.

"Even the smallest details, such as irregularities of skin color and patterns, are important."

4. Drag and drop the information to complete the graphic organizer:

Topic:

Main idea:

Informational text

Elements

Facts

Bold words

Heading

Diagrams

They involved paleontologists and other professionals.

You can zoom in and rotate the projections.

There's a dinosaur in my kitchen and one in my garden and one walking down my street.	The details are very vivid.	Dinosaurs and technology
Google designed a new feature for the smartphones to project a real life dinosaur.	Picture of a dinosaur according to the feature.	Camera, 3D, Technology

5. Read the text:

Dinosaur Dig

It was Sonia's birthday. She had a new game.

'Dinosaur Dig!' said Sonia. 'Fantastic! This is just what I wanted!'

Sonia decided to try her new game. She switched on the computer, put the game in and looked at the screen. A strange icon appeared. Sonia clicked on the icon.

FLASH! 'Where am I?' said Sonia.

'You're in Dinosaur Dig,' said the boy next to her.

'We have to find old dinosaur bones.' 'Here's one!' said Sonia. She picked up a golden bone that was hidden under a bush.

'No!' shouted the boy. 'You mustn't pick the golden ones up! Now watch out for the dinosaur!' Suddenly they heard a noise behind them. The ground began to shake. They heard a dinosaur roar. 'RUN!' Sonia and the boy ran fast through the bushes, but the dinosaur was getting closer. Sonia and the boy hid behind a bush.

'What will happen if the dinosaur catches us?' asked Sonia.

'Well, the game is over! But I've got three lives left. How many have you got?' 'Only one!' 'ROAR!' The dinosaur was there! 'Look!' shouted Sonia. There was the same icon that she saw on her computer. Sonia touched the icon. FLASH! Sonia was at home, sitting at her computer. She looked at the game. 'Bye, bye, dino,' she said. 'Hmmm. Maybe I'll play a different game.'

6. Read the sentences and select TRUE or FALSE:

a. The main character of this story is a dinosaur.   TRUE   FALSE

b. The setting of this story is a real jungle.   TRUE   FALSE

c. The problem of this story is that the girl and the boy are trapped in a video game.   TRUE   FALSE

d. The solution of this story is that the girl finally finds the way to wake up from the nightmare.   TRUE   FALSE

e. This is a narrative text, so it is nonfiction.   TRUE   FALSE