

6. Make one sentence. Use "so . . . that" or "such . . . that".

Available points: 4

1. That new phone is popular. There aren't any left in the store.

That new phone is so popular that there aren't any left in the store.

2. Daniel is creative. He won an award for his idea.

3. Eva is a successful businessperson. She got two promotions this year.

4. That new car is cheap. I might be able to buy it.

5. The Internet is a great invention. People all over the world are using it.

5. Rewrite the sentences with "so" or "such" in the correct position.

Available points: 4

1. Wow! That salesman is enthusiastic about the Easy Broom.

Wow! That salesman is so enthusiastic about the Easy Broom.

2. But it looks like an ineffective product!

3. The inventor's idea is unimaginative.

4. His design is conventional.

5. He'll have a difficult time getting people to buy it.

4. Highlight the correct words in parentheses to complete the conversation.

Available points: 6

Dennis: Hey, Laila. Did you see that list of cool ideas for cell phones on the Internet the other day? It was (so / such) an amazing list.

Laila: No, I didn't see it.

Dennis: Well, some of the ideas were (so / such) creative, and there was (so / such) a cool picture of one of them, too.

Laila: Tell me about it.

Dennis: Well, it was (so / such) a great idea. It was a cell phone that is only five square centimeters.

Laila: That's (so / such) small!

Dennis: Yes, it is. But it opens and gets bigger! It was (so / such) an imaginative idea that the inventor won an award for it.

Laila: Wow. I love new inventions. The list sounds (so / such) interesting What's the website?

Note: You can only select 6 items in this activity.

